TRANSPORTATION SIMULATION

Experience an interactive simulation to better understand the role of transportation in our lives.

Our goal for this simulation is to promote a greater understanding of the transportation barriers and needs that our citizens face. Students and community members must overcome these types of barriers to maintain independence and self-sufficiency for themselves and their families. During the simulation, participants will role-play the lives of these citizens. Following a similar model of Poverty Simulations, participants will get firsthand experience taking on the roles of many of our Columbia neighbors. Please join us in experiencing this unique event and see how you would survive some of life's most unpredictable hurdles.
